

Ivey Enterprise Development Bundles

Ivey Enterprise Development Bundles are designed for organizations that want a structured, long-term approach to leadership and talent development. Rather than managing individual program enrollments, bundles allow organizations to plan development in advance, allocate learning strategically, and work with Ivey as a long-term development partner.

This approach supports organizations building leadership capability over time, aligning learning investments with business priorities, workforce planning, and succession needs.

Bundle Options

Each bundle provides a defined number of open-enrollment credits that can be used across eligible programs within a set timeframe. This structure allows organizations to plan development in advance while retaining flexibility in how learning is allocated across teams and roles.
